The Company Insures against Fire on very small Premiums. Every class of Buildings and Goods, whether private or industrial.

Goods in Customs Deposit may be likewise Insured.

Insurers in this Company contract no other obligation than the payment of the stipulated Premium on the Policies, the Company being only responsible for such injuries as they may suffer from Fire.

Among the general conditions of the Policy, there is one of particular advantage to Mortgage Creditors.

The Company offers the following Rewards:—
$f.40 To the first Hose ready to lend assistance.
$f.20 To the second do., do.
$f.20 To the first pipe of water.
$f.4 To each of the five succeeding pipes

Which run to the Fire of any Edifice or Property Insured in THE ESTRELLA, on making known his choice of the Reward, or a Certificate issued by the Police authorities to such as shall have assisted at the mishap.

The Company will also give a Reward of $f.4 to whoever shall present themselves at their Office, to give Notice of any Fire within the Municipal

No. of Policies,... 2,614 | Securities, $f.838,920·41

It being an admitted fact, that "Money makes money," the object of LA BIENHECHORA could not be better, since it opens a vast Savings Bank for the surplus or savings of the Public, so that, by the proper employment of these small gains, a moderate capital, or even annuity, may be secured in a short time. By this means a provident, though helpless, family can husband their small means, and, in the end, attain a competency.

It being proved that the accumulation of interest is the most powerful means of augmenting the capital, THE BIENHECHORA DEL PLATA—an Argentine Company, whose only investments are in the country—holds out to Subscribers greater advantages than any other Institution, by reason of all its dealings being in the River Plate, where are current as large interests as in any part of the world.

THE BIENHECHORA DEL PLATA receives Deposits of from Five Patacones per Annum up to any amount in Weekly, Monthly, or Yearly Instalments.

THE WAR IN THE NORTH.

HARD FIGHTING AGAIN.

ANOTHER SURPRISE.

The news from Paraguay is again becoming important. The Goya arrived on Sunday, but her news was anticipated by a Brazilian transport, the Alvaro Gomez, which put into Zarate for horses. The dates from head quarters are to the 28th ult. As none of the city journals appear to have regular, paid, correspondents, it is difficult to follow the army, and the hasty details supplied by the captains of the steamers, is the only imperfect information obtainable. We have to thank the captains of the Volante and Sheffield for interesting news; also an English gentleman a-foot in the Gran Chaco.

On the 23rd the advance Brazilian guard, whilst marching through a narrow defile, close to the Angostura, fell into an ambuscade; it appears that the allied vanguard came upon a small but deep river, spanned by an old bridge, which was defended by a small body of the Paraguayans; to attack and route these was but the work of a moment. Osorio, when he came up, led his brave troopers to the bridge, and drove the Paraguayans back at the point of the bayonet; in an instant the Brazilians seized the bridge, and the vanguard had nearly crossed over, when a strong Paraguayan force, numbering at least 1,000 men, dashed out of the adjoining wood, and fell on the Brazilian rear, a terrible fight ensued; the Paraguayans fought with their usual heroism, and the Cossacks of Rio Grande held their ground under terrible disadvantage. The fight lasted for some time, the brunt of the fight took place on the margin of the stream, and on the bridge in question, the planks of which were dyed with gore. Osorio, who beyond all question, is the bravest man in the allied army, wheeled round and gallantly cut his way through the enemy back to the bridge; we have no particulars as to who led the Paraguayans on the occasion, but whoever he was, he fought with the most dauntless bravery, and for some time appears to have had the advantage. The loss of the combatants is not precisely given, one of our colleagues states that 150 wounded men have come down to Humaitá, whilst the Paraguayans are said to have lost 200 killed and 40 prisoners. General Osorio seems to have had a very narrow escape of it, he was attacked by a Paraguayan officer, who tried to sabre the already wounded veteran, but he unhorsed his adversary by a ball from his revolver; another tried, we hear, to ball Osorio's horse but failed. Balling a horse in a hand-to-hand fight is certainly rather a novel military tactic.

This is all we have of this desperate engagement; it would seem, however, that Osorio with his men recrossed the bridge, for we hear that 3 days after the fight he made a reconnoisance of the Paraguayan position, and found it very strong. A combined attack is the next move, by land and water; it will take place at this rather bitter Angostura pass—and then the road to Asuncion will be free up to Villeta.

The movements of the allied army are at this moment particularly interesting. On the 21st the army arrived at the little village of Mercedes, which is 7 leagues from Villeta, and 17 from Asuncion. Now, the allied commander is entering a very thickly-wooded country, presenting immense difficulties. At places the army defiles along paths which wind through valleys where the aged monarchs of the forest lift their heads to a height hitherto unseen in this part of South America; at places even the sky is hid from view, and all these dense woods are filled with straggling Paraguayan forces.

On the 21st the squadron moved up the river from Villa Oliva, and with the squadron a whole fleet of transports, sailing vessels, &c. belonging to the suttlers, last went the Proveeduria ship, which run along the banks, taking here and there picquets of advance guards, which seem to have got lost in the dense forests.

The army may be compared to a band of explorers trying their way in a new country. In an instant a hotel is run up, and beefsteaks and mutton-chops served up to the hungry commanders. On board the vessels are hundreds of cocks and hens, and, therefore, there is no scarcity of eggs.

The little town of Mercedes, like all the Paraguayan villages, is simple, neat, and unpretentious. The few houses are built on the river's banks, with look-out houses for the sentries. But the Allies only found fourteen families in the place. The women, of course, shared their inevitable fate at the hands of the soldiery. They are fair and good-looking. There are only two tile houses in the village, and about half-a-dozen ranchos, and the town is surrounded by an almost impenetrable wood. The largest house is a sort of 'capilla,' and here the officers are quartered.

On the evening of the 22nd, Marques Caxias after a very long and tedious march arrived at Mercedes. He puts up at the Capilla; the army is also coming up, but slowly. The delivery of army forage is a very tedious operation. All day on the 22nd the vessels, some 39 in number, were discharging cargoes, and the men busy in receiving it. Besides this, every species of comestible is sent up, and even articles of luxury are tossed about on the bank.

The sorrows and hardships which the army at present experience are endured without a murmur, as the whole army hope that shortly they will have some rest at Asuncion; and the troops are impatient to push right on to the capital. But the check at the little wooden bridge reminds the commanders that they are in the enemy's country: and henceforward the vanguard will keep closer to the army.

The Argentine Government has chartered the British barque Sheffield to load the trophies of the war at Humaita. She has already a number of cannons on board, and a good part of the chain. All agree that had it not for the efforts of Lieutenant-Colonel Romero, the Captain of the Port of Humaita, many of the guns would have lain for ages in the bottom of the river where the Paraguayans had pitched them. Col. Romero leaves for Buenos Ayres. His absence from Humaita will be much regretted by all the foreign shipmasters.

We expect to-morrow further details of the last fight. Lopez according to latest dates, is still at Villeta, and will dispute the pass. There must be a very sanguinary fight before the Allies.

LA PLATA'S MAILS.

EIGHT DAYS LATER FROM ENGLAND.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE.

The La Plata, Captain Hairby, left Liverpool on Aug. 31, and arrived in Montevideo on the 31st inst. She made a fine run out, notwithstanding the severity of the weather, brings a valuable assorted cargo, and the following passengers:—

Charles Stewart, Charles N. Bell, H. Perry and family, Julia Geary and family, James Roche, James M'Loughlin, J. L. Hanney, James D. Wilson, John Blakely and family, Catherine Wynne, James Wynne, John M'Connell and family, George Croll and family, Thomas Crowther, Matthew Kelly, John Hill and family, John Oliver and family, Bentley Swinden.

The news from England is of much importance. Money rules the same: Argentine and Brazilian Stocks improved 1 per cent., in consequence of the "Times" in its City Article, stating that Humaita had fallen and Brazil would now be prepared to make peace. The following are our colleague's remarks:—

"The hopes entertained by the large and influential class of the English public interested in the commerce and finance of Brazil that the alarming telegrams recently forwarded from Montevideo as to the position of the army before Humaita would soon be followed by intelligence of a different character, were confirmed to-day by the announcement of the abandonment of that fortress by the Paraguayans, and its occupation by the Allies on the 25th ult. The quotation of exchange from Rio is 18¼d, a rise of 1d, and in our market an advance has been established of one per cent. in Brazilian Bonds. With this event the war is considered to be virtually brought to a close. Humaita had been 14 years in course of construction, and with the aid of all the experience derived from the lessons of the American civil war, had been brought to a condition to be termed by United States engineers 'the Gibraltar of the South.' When this shall have been razed all probability of a renewal of hostilities will be at an end, and it is believed that Brazil, especially under the new administration of Viscount Itaborahy entertains no further object. There is, consequently, reason to anticipate not only that our trade with that country and its allies—the Argentine Republic and Uruguay, which take together about one-twelfth of our entire annual exportations, will now resume its natural course, but that European commerce may at length penetrate the rich territory of Paraguay, whence it has hitherto been rigorously excluded."

An earthquake was experienced at Gibraltar on the 18th August, being contemporaneous with the Pacific earthquake; the event has caused immense attention in Europe, where up to the latest dates nothing of the Pacific earthquake was known.

For the first time for many years past, (says the Chronicle,) Gibraltar has been visited by an earthquake. On the afternoon of the 14th inst. two most unmistakeable shocks were felt at many different points in the town and south. Some people assert that they saw the walls of houses shaking; others had their glasses and crockery thrown down from shelves and broken while by many the strange rumbling noise was mistaken for the explosion of some distant magazine. The first shock was distinct, and is reported to have lasted some five or six seconds This occurred about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. It was succeeded by a second shock very much slighter in every way at about 6 o'clock p.m. The movement appears to have been from east to west, but it is impossible to assert this with any certainty, as only the most accurate observation could, in so small a space, indicate the line of motion. It was felt on the north front, and also at the Spanish lines and San Roque. No atmospheric or other prognostications appear to have preceded the shock.

A communication from Lequeito, in the Bay of Biscay, says:—Two of the Ministers of the Queen of Spain, M. M. Marfori, and Belda, who accompanied the court to this place, have narrowly escaped drowning. Both these high personages went out in a boat for a sail; the Minister of Marine took the rudder, and as this was the first time that the statesman who directs the Spanish Navy had been at sea, he steered so well that the boat capsized. Both Ministers were of course in the water, and neither being able to swim, would undoubtedly have perished, if aid had not reached them. Much mirth has been indulged in among the visitors here at this incident.

The Queen is expected to arrive at Windsor from the Continent on Sept. 11. Several of the London papers, by request, "contradict on authority the report which has appeared in the public press of a man having been arrested at Lucerne on suspicion of being a Fenian with designs against the life of her Majesty. Her Majesty has been subjected to no annoyance of any kind during her stay in Switzerland, and nothing has occurred to interfere with the excellent arrangements made for her comfort by the Federal and local authorities.

Count Bismark has met with an accident which might have had serious consequences. While riding on his estate at Varzine, accompanied by two friends, his horse stepped with his fore feet into a hole, turned a complete somersault, and, precipitating the Count, fell with his whole weight upon him. Miracuously enough, he was not crushed to death, but escaped with a few bruises. Though speechless for a few moments, and in a state of great nervous excitement for the next 24 hours, he has now so far recovered the effects of his fall that he finds himself in his usual state of health. It is hoped that, with his well known strength of constitution, the nervous disorder under which he has been suffering of late will not be brought on again by the accident. I regret to say that so fortunate an issue can hardly be expected of the disease of another eminent Prussian statesman. Count Von der Goltz, the Prussian Ambassador at Paris, who has been so long troubled with cancer under the tongue finds no alleviation from the different treatments he has tried. He was to have replaced Count Bismark in the event of his withdrawal from office. As it is, the Paris Embassy is likely to be vacated long before the Berlin premiership. Most probably Prince Reuss, who now represents this Government at St. Petersburg, will be shortly appointed to the same office in France.

News from Ireland is favorable, Mr. Scully is recovering—Throughout the country there is intense electioneering excitement.

There are further accounts of the Duke of Abercorn's 'progress.' When his Excellency entered Londonderry in state he was received by the Mayor, the high sheriff, and the magistrates at Bishop's-gate, which was decorated with evergreens and laurels, and on the arch of which were displayed the words "Welcome to Derry, Duke and Duchess of Abercorn." The six archways which pierce the boundary wall of the city were illuminated in the evening. When his Excellency entered the Corporation Hall the apprentice boys fired a salute from the cannon on the walls. The Earl of Erne presided at the banquet, and there were present the Duke of Manchester, the Earl of Clancarty Lords Straithnairn, Templetown, Clonbrock, Crofton, Crichton, and Claude Hamilton. His Excellency was loudly cheered when he stated that most of the crops in Ireland would be above the average in 'quantity,' and that there is an increase this year of 79,000 acres of cereal crops, 33,000 acres of potatoes, and 33,000 acres of meadow-land. Nearly 150,000 acres are returning from pasture presumably into rotation of crops. The announcement that emigration has declined was applauded, also his Excellency's marked reference to the recent outrage an Ballycohey, in Tipperary.

The public had scarcely begun to recover from the alarm occasioned by the terrible explosion at the Mersey Steel Works and the still more dreadful collision and conflagration on the London and North-western Railway in Wales, when it was startled by a visitation of a totally different character, occasioning an immense destruction of property and a loss of life truly appalling. We allude to the terrific gale which swept the Irish and Welsh shores on Saturday night, and extended its destructive influence on the opposite coast far away to the north.

The gale was one of the most terrible which has visited this part of the kingdom for many years, and there is reason to fear that the full extent of the disasters it has occasioned will never be fully known. Many vessels have foundered, carrying their crews to a watery grave, and only when these ill-fated ships are broken up and their timbers floated ashore, will their names be known and the precise numbers of those who have perished be ascertained. The uncertainty which prevailed with regard to some vessels occasioned a suspense of the most painful nature, leading to almost hourly inquiries as to whether this or that ship had been heard of; and it was painful or joyous to witness the dejection or delight which was occasioned by the answer given to these numerous interrogatories. Immense quantities of wreckage were thrown upon the coast on either side of the river, but more particularly from Bootle to Formby, and the poor at the north end of the town have carried away quantities of spars and timbers belonging to some of the wrecked vessels.

Saturday dawned in the midst of heavy showers and with a fresh wind blowing from the S. E., which continued throughout the day until four p.m., when it veered to N. N. W. and increased to a gale. There was nothing in the early part of the day to indicate the heavy gale which was approaching.

Although the wind blew with great violence on shore as well as at sea, we have not heard of any serious disaster by land. Great damage has been done to gardens around the town, by the combined effects of rain and wind, and here and there a few chimney pots or slates have been blown away; but compared with the fearful catalogue of disasters at sea, these trifles are not deserving of notice;

The latest authoritative statement as to the Parliamentary arrangements is as follows:—The present Parliament will be dissolved on the 9th November, the elections for boroughs will commence on the 13th, and for the counties on the 14th. The new Parliament will meet on the 10th December, the Queen's Speech will be delivered on the 14th, and in all probability the division on the amendment to be moved upon the Address will take place on the night of Friday, the 19th December.

The Berlin correspondent of the Times calls attention to the fact that the appointment of M. de la Guerroniere to the Brussels Embassy may be looked upon as a proof that the Emperor has not yet made up his mind to leave Prussia alone. M. de la Guerroniere proposed a military and commercial league between the secondary States and France, and some of them thought the matter of sufficient importance to necessitate disavowal. The correspondent goes on to point out that both Switzerland and Belgium are disposed for neutrality, while Holland is not indisposed to side with France in case of a break with Prussia. The belief that part of M. de la Guerroniere's work may be to carry into practice his paper schemes, or at all events to keep Belgium safe in view of coming complications, is the foundation for the supposition that the Emperor has not settled for peace as yet. Marshall Neil speaking at Toulouse, represented the army as animated by the best spirit and its armaments complete, while he said "the arsenals are full, the financial resources of the country almost unexhaustible; and comparing France with other countries, it might be affirmed with pride that France alone was in a position to make peace or war."

Some further correspondence with reference to the Tornado case has just been made public, the dates of the letters running from the 20th May to the 23th August. The representative of the crew has again pressed upon the attention of Lord Stanley the hardships which the delay in the settlement of the case is causing to the crew, whose peasonal effects, to the value of £1,093 7s 2d, have never been restored to them. He concludes one of his letters thus:—"There was a time when such a flagrant outrage on the British flag and British seamen would not remain so long unavengted." Mr. Hammond, for Lord Stanley, can only say that the matter must be brought to a final issue in the Spanish courts before anything can be done as to compensation.

A turf scandal has just elucidated in the French law courts. Three gentlemen, among them Charles Laffitte and Khalil Bey, once Ottoman Ambassador at St. Petersburg, owned what was known as Major Fridolin's stable. Khalil Bey wishing to withdraw from the partnership, an arrangement was made to dispose of the horses belonging to it; and it is charged by Khalil Bey that M. Charles Laffitte, by an unfair manipulation of the bidding, had all the good horses knocked down to him for a song, after having obtained the exclusion of Khalil Bey's agent from the competition. The Court taking the Bey's views of the case, has ordered M. Charles Laffitte to pay 25,000 francs as damages and the costs of the suit. English people will be reminded by this turf case that the legal duel between John Day and Admiral Rous has not come off yet.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

For many years we have not been visited with such a heavy fall of rain as that which swept the entire province on Saturday last. From all points of the compass we hear the same report, viz., that the rain has been general and unusually heavy. In the neighbourhood of Lujan it commenced at 8 a.m. and continued without the least intermission until half-past 5 p.m., leaving the entire country completely under water.—Those few who arrived from town at Lujan had to remain all day at the station, which was completely surrounded by water; a trip to the town in a horse cart was undertaken by a courageous "pueblero," who arrived at his destination, 20 squares, in 33 minutes. The small arroyo at the Cañada Aria had 14 feet of water in it. The Navarro diligence having been submerged in an attempt to pass, the Capilla diligence had to remain on the road, travelling being out of the question. The rails near Olivera's Camp were covered for five or six squares, whilst the river Lujan rose almost to the plaza of the town. Seven priests, with the Juez de Paz of the capilla, left Lujan at 11 a.m. for the capilla to attend the "funcion" there on the 4th; at a quarter to 4 they were spoken two and a quarter leagues N.W. by N. of Lujan, having made exactly 17 squares an hour. As far as the prospects for sheepfarmers, &c., nothing could be finer, as the camps are waving sheets of pasture; shearing is out of the question for at least ten days. But, whilst camp work may be delayed a few days, the year promises to be one of the finest known for some time, and it is to be hoped farmers will endeavour to get rid of all superfluous stock, as all flocks as sure to be fat in November and December.

Before leaving for Europe in the mail, Mr Barry had an interview with Sr. Sarmiento upon the subject of exporting live cattle to Europe. His Excellency, we are assured, entered warmly into the project, which it does not require much foresight to see, must prove of infinite advantage to the rural interests of the country if only properly carried out. In good practical hands we have no doubt the enterprise will succeed.

To-day is named for the inauguration of the Central Uruguay Railway from Montevideo to Las Piedras. We congratulate the contractors of this most important work on their partial accomplishment of the first railway in the Banda Oriental, and hope the weather may be fine for the occasion.

Last week we had a visit from Captain Shortt, commander of the Oberon, and Dr. Mullins of the same vessel. They spend a few hours inspecting our Museum. The Oberon leaves in a few days for Montevideo.

The total amount received at the Patente Office in this city from the beginning of the year to this date amounts to close on nine millions currency. The receipts in the country are not yet all sent in, but at present figure up to 1,200,000. It is supposed that the total yield of the Patente Tax for the current year will be about eleven millions. Rather a large figure.

We advise our readers that shortly the lessee of the Victoria will give "Othello" in Spanish. We have no doubt that all Shakespearians will attend.

The people of San Antonio de Areco are very desirous that some good doctor should at once settle in that town, as Dr. Rivero is said to be too infirm to attend to his profession, and the people are in the hands of "curanderos."

The Chivilcoy excursionists arrived in town late on Saturday night. The fêtes outside, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, were a great success.

The La Plata ball came off on Saturday night. Very few English attended. Two English ladies recently arrived attracted attention: the attendance was good, and the supper superb. Many who intended to go, believing that the ball would be postponed on account of the weather, did not attend.

Yesterday there was a great demand for the Paraguayan notes now published in English. We have seen one man who has read them through. He is of course completely done up, and unable to show himself at our office. We believe he has gone down to Montevideo for a change of air. When he returns we shall advise our readers. Nothing in the history of ancient or modern diplomacy comes up to these notes in point of length.

The last news from Corrientes is of a rather refreshing character. Ex-Governor Lopez has left Caseres: he now stands out for himself, and demands the immediate intervention of the National Government. The difficulty seems further off than ever from a solution.

The married ladies have taken up the Alcazar question "con amore." We call attention to a letter in to-day's issue signed "A Married Woman." To oblige the lady in question we publish the letter, but we must remind our lady friends of the notice at the head of our columns, and request that henceforward ladies send their cards.

The news per La Plata will be found highly interesting. Our readers will take note that the earthquake at Gibraltar, the flooding of the Tiber, the earthquakes at Peru and Ecuador, and the shocks felt in Morocco, and the breaking out of Vesuvius, all occurred contemporaneously, which clearly proves that there is something at work below, which mocks all the wisdom of the age, and even disturbs the pleasurable theories of geologists. We have looked up all the books, and since the world began, can find no mention of such a universal shock as that of last August. Captain Burton tells us that the Lisbon earthquake was felt as far as Santos in Brazil; but the shock at Iquique tumbled houses in Gibraltar and terrified the Moors. Perhaps by next mail we shall get volcanic details from India, China, and Japan.

We hold over till to-morrow a graphic account of the Chivilcoy fêtes: the La Plata's news taking precedence.

Yesterday morning the body of a foreigner was found at the Retiro hill suspending from the branch of a tree; life perfectly extinct; the body was removed to the policia and inspected by numerous foreigners, but up to the present has not been identified. We found it our painful and disagreeable duty to do so also, and regret to say that although unaware of deceased's name his face is quite familiar. He was about 40 years of age, no beard, light hair, blue eyes, and rather respectably dressed; his shirt, under shirt, and other garments are new, and apparently have been bought ready-made. In his pockets the police found four thousand dollars, which clearly proves it to be a case of suicide. We have often seen the unfortunate man about town, and Captain Davis, of the Estrella, also recognised the countenance. He was evidently a German, and not, as was generally supposed, an Englishman. When found at the Retiro his left foot barely touched the ground.

THE ALCAZAR.

To the Editors of the "Standard."

Gentlemen,

Having read in your paper of Saturday an article on the Alcazar question, and having always considered the "Standard" a very impartial paper, I was very much grieved, indeed, to read the severe criticism on married women; evidently that article has been written by a bachelor, who, like Reynard in the fable, envies what he cannot obtain. The statement of the police officer cannot be very correct when he says that the Alcazar is nightly crowded with serious-minded, respectable men. A serious-minded, respectable man will certainly prefer spending his evenings in the bosom of his family listening to the innocent prattle of his children, conversing with his wife, from whom he has been absent all day, and to whom are due a few of his leisure hours, rather than frequent a place like the Alcazar. Why should the evidence of a married woman be excluded on such a subject as this? How is she to spend her evenings? Her mornings are devoted to her children and her household, endeavouring to perform faithfully her duties that her home may be pleasant for her husband when he returns from his business: How is she rewarded? He hastens after dinner to the Alcazar; she puts her children to bed, and is left to amuse herself as best she may.

What wonder if she rushes into a career of extravagance? Who has a right to blame her? In a few years the husband is a bankrupt; the world blames the wife—her extravagance has ruined him, it says—but if we search the inmost recesses of that house, we trace the disaster to the nightly orgies of the husband.

Women may be compared to the vine; she requires something to lean upon; and her safest prop is a husband's love: if she has not that, her best traits become mere weeds, which very soon smother the good qualities of her heart.

Married women certainly have higher claims than ballet-dancers. Does the husband forget that his wife has left the happy home of her childhood, and given herself to him? Does he remember that she has her trials also, which may be of less magnitude than his, but which, nevertheless, are as hard to bear. Beware then, husbands, of such attractions as Alcazars!—they weaken that union upon which mutual happiness depends; and never forget that in the solemn relationship of husband is to be found the best guarantee for man's honor and happiness.

If gentlemen persist in frequenting such 'naughty' places as the Alcazar, why should married women be denied the privilege of starting a similar institution? Should this idea meet the approval of the married women of B Ayres, they can always count on the hearty support and nightly attendance of one victimised

MARRIED WOMAN.

THE AWFUL RAILWAY ACCIDENT IN NORTH WALES.

Abergele,

The terrible calamity which happened in this locality to the Irish limited mail express, on Thursday, sad as it first seemed, turns out to be more dreadful than was supposed. It was hoped on Friday that the sufferers by the accident would not exceed 20, but now it is ascertained beyond a doubt that 33 persons have been killed, and their remains are so much destroyed that it is hopeless to expect that their friends will be able to identify them, except in a few instances, and this only by the articles found upon them.

On Saturday, a post mortem examination of the remains was made by Dr. Jones, Dr. Lloyd Davies, and Dr. Griffiths, of Abergele, and from the report which they have made upon their examination [which was kindly furnished to us] we make the following extracts:—

No. 1. Female body; skull partly consumed, one tooth only remaining in upper jaw. All the organs in a perfect state of preservation from fire. Portion of a silk dress found under the right armpit, between it and the body, unburnt, Supposed to be the body of Lady Farnham.

No. 8. Part of a skull and portion of vertebræ of a child; sex unknown.

THE ENGINE DRIVER'S STATEMENT.

The engine driver, James Thompson has made the following statement:—"The train left London at 7 15, and did the journey to Chester in good time. At Chester four carriages were attached to it. The train was then made up thus—engine and tender, first guards's van, a composite (first and a second class) carriage, two first-class carriages, and a second class, half devoted to passengers and half filled with luggage. These were the carriages put on at Chester. The two travelling post-office vans came next, attached to each other by strong leather straps and coupling chains; and then came the other half of the train, which escaped without injury. After you pass Abergele there is a long and steep incline. We had done the distance in good time along the level, so I let the engine go up the incline at an easy pace—between 28 and 30 miles an hour—specially as the train was heavier than usual. Just as we rounded the curve opposite Gwrych Castle [the seat of Mr. Hesketh], I saw some loose trucks running down the incline on our line of rails. I should have stuck by the engine, but I saw that some of the trucks had barrels of oil or something of that sort in them, and I knew the danger. I jumped off on to the bank. I called to my mate [Joseph Holmes, the stoker], 'Jump for your life, Joe, but my mate did not do it. I fell on my feet, and as I fell the engine caught the trucks. I was struck on the head by a fragment from the tender, and half stunned. The engine when it caught the trucks, flung them across the permanent way. The engine kept the rails, but the tender jumped over it and fell on the bank. The moment after the collision the oil blazed up. It was all in an instant. I heard my mate give a groan, and I saw him lying in a mass of flame. None of the passengers stirred. There was not a groan or a cry of any sort from them. The only noise was that of my mate when the flames caught him. I ran and opened two or three of the carriage doors on the side on which they were locked, but the flames drove me away. The carriages were all in a blaze immediately. I ran and cut the leather straps attaching the two post-office vans. The rear guard helped me. The clerks got the mail bags out of the van that was burnt. They were a good deal burnt in doing it. The carriages that we had cut loose rolled down the incline. Then I grew faint from loss of blood, and lost my senses. I believe that the passengers were killed almost immediately. None of them attempted to get out. I do not known how it was that the trucks from the goods train had got loose. There were five of them—three all together, and the two others. The collision was not a bad one, and the carriages were not damaged. They did not leave the line. It was the petroleum that did it all. If it had not been for that there would not have been a life lost."

ON 'CHANGE.

October 5, 1868.

Ounces	400
Sovereigns	122½
Patacons	25
National Bonds	45⅝

There was very little done in Bonds to-day. In the morning prices stiffened, but towards the afternoon fell off, and the market closed with a decided downward tendency. Even on time, for the end of the month, there are few buyers. Brokers and merchants hold aloof from the market till the closing of Congress. Should the mooted emissions not be authorised, prices will at once improve; but the general belief is, that Congress will sanction all the emissions asked.

In Exchange nothing done until the afternoon, when several bills were passed at 49, which may now be regarded as the opening rate, but it is evident that there will be very little passed for this packet.

The news from Rosario is rather more favourable: the panic has subsided, and the Banks no longer feel the pressure. The English Bank, it seems, has already sent up to Rosario over two hundred thousand patacons.

The weather has put back the shearing season considerably. Now no new wool can be looked for before the end of this month or the beginning of November. Capones are improving in price: some sales made to-day at 38 m/c.

The cash sales of Bonds to-day amounts to 64,000, the bulk of which were sold at 46, closing at 45⅝.

For Oct. 31, 205,000, at 45⅞.
For Dec. 31, 65,000, at 46⅜.
Total sales, 364,000.

The La Plata, Captain Hairby, is now discharging in port. She will leave on the 10th. Her accommodations are very superior. Mr. Griswold and other passengers who went home in her last voyage, write in the very highest terms of this vessel.

In the discount market there is a good business doing. Money can be had at from 10 to 12 per cent. The Provincial Bank discounts liberally, also the private banks. The specie shipped up to Rosario is shortly expected back.

In Gas Shares nothing doing; sellers at 60.

The sale of some steamers is spoken of, but as yet the business is reserved.

Coal is at last going up, owing to the heavy shipments to the army.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO.

101--Cangallo--103.

BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes alerady mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, 2nd January, 1867.

P.P. MAUA & Co.,

M. A. DE FREITAS AMORIM.

CONDITIONS.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wishes can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

SARATOGA "A" SPRING WATER

THE SARATOGA "A" SPRING WATER is probably the most effective Mineral Water found on either Continent. It will be observed that it has Ten per Cent. greater Mineral properties than the celebrated Congress Spring, four times that of Baden Baden of Austria, five times that of Aix la Chapelle in Prussia, twice that of Vichy in France, nearly three times greater than the renowned Seltzer of Germany, and equally over the Spas of Bath, England, and Kissengen in Bavaria.

ANALYSIS OF THE SARATOGA "A" SPRING WATER, BY JULIUS G. POHLE' M.D., SURVIVING PARTNER OF JAMES R. CHILTON & POHLE.

The value of Mineral Waters has been prized and acknowledged by Medical Men since the earliest civilisation. A celebrated authority says:—"The virtues of Mineral Waters have been best shown in the treatment of obscure and chronic diseases. In many instances persons have been restored to health, or greatly relieved by, Mineral Waters, where other remedies have failed. The reason, no doubt, is that such Waters must contain compounds not yet known to Chemistry or Pharmacy."

USES.

The reputation of this Water is based upon its effects in Diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys, and Spleen, and acts with wonderful benefit in cases of Chronic Dyspepsia, Constipation, Gravel, Gout, Scrofula, Cutaneous Affections, General Lethargy, Soreness, and Prostration of the System.
